

Alvin Lankford Named New Chief Appraiser of Williamson Central Appraisal District

The Williamson Central Appraisal District (WCAD) has named Alvin Lankford as their new chief appraiser. He begins effective March 1. Mr. Lankford graduated from Georgetown High School and holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Political Science from Texas State University. He currently serves as the deputy chief appraiser at the WCAD and has been with the appraisal district since 2000. He is a 2007 graduate of the Texas Association of Appraisal District's Chief Appraiser Institute and received his Registered Professional Appraiser designation in 2003. He is a member of the International Association of Assessing Officers, the Texas Association of Appraisal Districts and the Texas Association of Assessing Officers.

"I am both honored and excited about my new position as chief appraiser of Williamson Central Appraisal District," stated Lankford. "We have a great group of people that work in this organization. We will continue to provide a quality service to the citizens and local governments within our great county."

Bill Carroll, who began serving as chief appraiser of the Williamson Central Appraisal District on January 1, 1997, will retire effective February 28, 2009.

"I am retiring in order to be able to have time to fulfill my duties as the recently selected President Elect of the International Association of Assessing Officers," stated Mr. Carroll.
